Heard and Seen in Washington

By W. C. RICE

IMPERFORATES retain full interest of most collectors in and around Washington. Most important item of interest this week is delivery of the initial printing order of the "special uncut sheets" to the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. Of each of the 20 items to be issued in the March 15 deluge, there were ordered as a preliminary estimate only, 5,000 full uncut sheets of each. Of the items to be sold cut into blocks of four, the preliminary order was 250,000 blocks of each, in addition to the full sheets.

If watermarks are desired, thin pieces of copper wire of small gauge are soldered to the roll in the form desired. These, of course, press into the paper more than the rest of the paper, making the paper thinner and producing the watermark. There is a chance that one of the copper wires which formed the double lined "U" became detached, leaving only the outline, or single lined "U" which is shown in the watermark on the block Mr. Mather describes. This is the only plausible explanation that we can figure out.

may know what unfinished and incomplete stamps are the warning was carefully worded:

"The special attention of postmasters and post-office employees who are concerned in the handling of postage stamp stock is again called to the importance of detecting and withholding from sale of sheets of postage stamps that may, through inadvertence, be received in shipments that disclose imperfections of manufacture of sufficient importance as to place the stamps in the class of rare or unusual issues. Included in the list of stamps or stamped paper to be rejected are the following:

1. Sheets of stamps from which the perforations are missing altogether or that are perforated in one direction only.
2. Stamped and stamped envelopes printed in a color other than that assigned to the particular denomination, unless the exception has been authorized by the Department as stated in the official announcement.

"All stamp supplies received in post offices containing the above-mentioned defects of manufacture shall be immediately withdrawn from sale and the facts reported to the Department for instructions. Negligence on the part of postmasters and postal employees in complying with the above instructions will be considered just cause for disciplinary action."

Signed C. B. Eilenberger,
Third Assistant Postmaster General.

The regular Parks series still maintains popularity in spite of the forthcoming imperforate issue. In fact it was necessary to order more printed recently. The additional numbers are 4 million each of the 1c, 2c, and 3c denominations and three million each of the rest, 4c through 10c inclusive.

Those readers of Linn's who transact business with Canada necessitat-

As a further evidence of the good faith of the Post Office Department in stamping out the release of unfinished stamps from the Bureau, a warning to postmasters has been issued to catch and hold any incomplete sheets that may escape detection by the examining force at the Bureau sort of a check and double check system. In order that postmasters ing the use of money orders will enjoy the following order:

"It is ordered that on and after February 18, 1935, the exchange charge of one percent on the face value of money orders of postal money orders drawn on Canada or Newfoundland, which was established by order No. 6576, shall be discontinued, and after that date until further notice no charge other than the usual fee for domestic money orders shall be collected."

Signed W. W. Howes,
Acting Postmaster General.

Mr. Roy M. North, Deputy Third Assistant Postmaster General, made an interesting address before the Collectors Club of Washington, February 19, covering in a general way the activities of the Office of the Third Assistant. In making mention of philatelists, Mr. North ventured as his opinion that the interest in stamp collecting is created and kept alive by the diversity of opinions among collectors as to what is collectible and how and why it should be collected.

Touching on the subject of commemoratives (which is a delicate one here in Washington) Mr. North brought forth much approval as well as enjoyment by the statement that every postage stamp issued is potentially a commemorative, because it depicts some likeness or picture for some good reason. But, the Department definition of a commemorative, is any stamp issued other than the regular series, especially when not conforming to the regular size and color. In Washington, much time has been spent in debating whether the Parks series are commemorative stamps or what? The discussion rages on with no solution agreeable to either group having been reached. Possibly it might be not amiss to offer a prize for a name suitable for the National Parks series, that would exclude them from yet include them in the class of commemoratives.

Rome—Mogadiscio Airmail

On the occasion of the recent visit of King Victor Emmanuel to Somaliland, an extraordinarily beautiful and striking set of Airmail stamps were issued to commemorate the record flight performed in 33 hours by the Italian pilots Francis Lombardi and Vittorio Suster on the Italian plane which carried mail on the route from Rome via Tobruk and Massaua to Mogadiscio.

The stamps bear a portrait of the Italian King and are inscribed "ROMA—MOGADISCIO." The set is in six values from 1 Lire to 10 Lire. The design is most unusual and striking, being quite simple, thus beautiful.

More Laurels for Pollock

Eugene L. Pollock who conceived and put over the National Stamp Exhibition of 1933, not to mention the Imperf. Byrd sheets of nine stamps, has been engaged to edit the stamp column of the Philadelphia Sunday Inquirer, Pennsylvania's biggest newspaper with a circulation of more than 650,000 copies and one of the six largest papers in the country.

The column will be called "The Stamp Album" and was to have made its first appearance Sunday, March 3rd.

Pade Going to Europe

A. E. Pade, the Big Mixture Man from Denver, Colorado, is planning another trip to Europe, especially for buying and for arranging for further supplies of mixed stamps in which he is one of the outstanding dealers in the world.

Mr. Pade expects to attend the Dealers Bourse in London in May, also the exposition at Brussels, after which he will visit Holland, Germany, Czechoslovakia, Saar, France and other countries.

Now, Everybody Laugh

The following bit of news is clipped from a "News letter" sent by a New York dealer to the I. P. H. V. COURIER, published at Leipzig, Germany. "Postmaster General Farley is also deeply interested (in Philately) and doing what he can to help collecting."

U. S. REVIEW

THOMAS F. WHITBREAD
Cummington, Mass.

Inquiries regarding U. S. Issues will be answered in this column. If a personal reply is desired enclose a stamped and addressed envelope.

Charles F. Becker shows us a copy of No. 1900, 10c Special Delivery which is perforated 11 on all but the left side, which is 10. This may be another of the odd perf varieties prevalent around the time this was issued but the irregularity of the holes in the copy submitted makes its authenticity doubtful.

Lynn Miller wants to know how to distinguish between 481-2-3 and 345-408-9. The first three numbers are unwatermarked. 345 has the double line watermark and 408-9, the single line watermark.

Edward K. Mather desires to know how the watermark on postcards can be determined. Holding up to a strong light should prove the easiest way. He also has the 2c and 10c Pan-American issue, on what appears to be, bluish paper. These were never issued this way and the bluish tinge is probably caused by their being in contact with a blue envelope when being soaked.

Mr. Mather also has 12 varieties of broken hats on the 2c Columbian and wonders if anyone has a larger number to report. He also mentions several single stamps which he has imperforates or part-perforates. Such copies with wide margins are sometimes found but unless found in a pair the chances are very definitely that they have been trimmed—or they would be catalogued.

Mr. Mather claims to have three distinct shades of the 3c Victory and asks why Scotts catalogue lists but two. Three shades are listed in the Specialized U. S. However, there are plenty of shades of other issues not listed but, as such varieties are of minor general interest, they must be limited to major color differences.

In addition, Mr. Mather describes a block of 5c 1908 Washington on which both double and single line watermarks appear. The single is a "U". This probably occurred as follows:—In making paper the pulpy mass passes under a copper roller while drying.

Rialto Stamp Co. Robbed

On the evening of February 14, the offices of the Rialto Stamp Co., at 109 West 42nd Street, New York were entered and five stock books of stamps also two collections and numerous other stamps and some cash were stolen. The Stock books consisted of Great Britain, Porto Rico and Philippines; German Colonies; Cuba and Canal Zone; 19th and 20th U. S. Used blocks and another of Air Mail Blocks etc.

A collection of Mint U. S. blocks and coils from 1920 to date and a collection of used singles and coil pairs from 1847 to date, all choice cancelled copies of finest quality.

Murder on St. Helena

By DON HOUSEWORTH

"One more question, Miss Thompson. At the time you heard the shot were all other members of the party in sight? Please answer the question cautiously."

"Miss Smith and I were alone. No one was in sight."

"Then any of the others might have fired that shot?"

Miss Thompson was silent a moment. Then: "I don't recall seeing you, either?"

Hayden smiled and dismissed her.

Jenkins, the student, moved to the witness chair.

"Where were you when the shot, heard by Miss Thompson, was fired?"

"I didn't hear it."

"Nor were you at Longwood when the rest of the party left to return to Jamestown," declared Hayden. "The driver has told me that he passed you on the road, a mile out of town, as he was going to Longwood."

"That's right," said Jenkins.

"Then where were you at 6 o'clock?"

"I couldn't have been far away from Longwood. I tired of waiting for the car and started to walk."

"Then you were alone for probably fifteen or twenty minutes during which time a man was killed."

"Are you accusing me of killing him?" Jenkins glared at the inspector.

"Not at all. In a serious case of this kind it is necessary to obtain as much information as possible and I simply want to know where everyone was at a certain time."

Old Kittlebach was next. He and his son, he said, had wandered off some distance to obtain a better view of the country but both heard the shot.

"By the way, Mr. Kittlebach," asked Hayden. "What is your occupation?"

"I am retired from business."

"I know, but in what line of business were you last engaged?"

"Postage stamps."

The inquest dragged through the afternoon but as far as I could determine Hayden gained but little information of value from the continued questioning. Mr. House, the author, heard the shot while walking in the road but he, too, attached no importance to it. No one saw any cause for anxiety in the absence of Balfour or in his failure to appear at Longwood for the trip into town.

At Doctor Burton's home that night we sat around in silence. Hayden seemed preoccupied with his thoughts and I do not know what occupied the doctor's mind. As for myself I was completely bewildered. Undoubtedly, some member of the Llandovery Castle group had killed Balfour but who it was or why the crime was committed was beyond my ken. That Balfour was the stamp thief was a foregone conclusion with me and I expected Hayden to tell us any minute that he had recovered the stamps. I knew that he had searched Balfour's room immediately after returning to Jamestown that morning.

"Doctor," Hayden said, "did you ever send to a stamp dealer for one of his very special bargains and then find yourself loaded down with unsolicited approvals?" He smiled and scratched his head. "That's the situation I'm in tonight. I started out to catch a stamp thief and here I got a murder on my hands and haven't even caught the thief."

"But I don't understand, Inspector," exclaimed the surgeon. "Do you mean that Balfour didn't take the stamps?"

"That's it. Between the three of us this situation is about as serious as it could possibly be. Balfour was a Scotland Yard man."

You could have knocked me over with a sheet of stamps. Doctor Burton swallowed but said nothing.

"There is no question about Balfour's identity," Hayden continued. "I found his papers and some other things as well. He came here on the trail of a much-wanted man and it is up to me to finish the job. If I just hadn't promised the postmaster—but why cry over spilt milk?"

"I think we will proceed with the original plan of inviting all the Orange passengers to gather here tomorrow night. Please make it plain that the party will not be another inquest. Just a social affair, you know."

The guests that night were as jolly as could be expected. In fact, I think the two missionary ladies and Mr. House tried to outdo each other in enforced good humor in an effort to emphasize their isolated position concerning the tragedy. After all there was really little occasion for sadness. Balfour was a stranger and that his death should occur under criminal circumstances while a member of the tourist party was regrettable but the innocent parties could not be expected to enter into a state of prolonged grief.

Hayden's mouth worked overtime. Doctor Burton was host in name only. It was Hayden's night and he overlooked no opportunity to make himself agreeable with everyone. He did not refer to the murder until Postmaster Potts asked what progress had been made on the case.

"I can't complain," he replied. "In fact, the whole thing ought to be cleared up in a few days.

"It has developed that not one but two crimes have been committed on this island since we landed four days ago and there is a strong relationship between the two."

"Two crimes!" exclaimed Miss Thompson. The others plainly were shocked by the statement.

"I am not at liberty to divulge the nature of the crime which preceded the murder," explained Hayden, "other than to say that the same person committed both acts. Temporarily, at least, I have pushed the murder out of my mind because the solution of the first crime will automatically solve the second. Do I make myself clear?"

"And that reminds me of a question I wanted to ask our German friend," turning to the elder Kittlebach.

Mr. Kittlebach's brows lowered. "You mentioned yesterday," said Hayden "that you had once been engaged in the postage stamp business. Tell me, Mr. Kittlebach, would it be very difficult for a man to dispose of a large quantity of stolen stamps?"

The man sprang to his feet with the alacrity of a youth. He turned to Doctor Burton. His face was drained of color.

"Sir, I permitted this man to question me at length while he was cloaked in the garb of officialdom. That you would permit him to insult me in your house by inferring that I have dealt in stolen stamps is insufferable. Come, Adolph!"

The old man stomped out of the house, his son at his heels.

That ended the party. Everyone was anxious to leave and they did leave, one by one.

The surgeon and Hayden stood at the door to bid each goodnight and as Mr. House prepared to leave he remarked to the inspector:

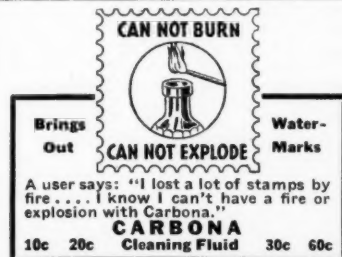

"Kind of got under the old gentleman's hide, didn't you?" He laughed softly.

Hayden chuckled with him.

As soon as the house was emptied Hayden sprang into action.

"Get your coats, fellows. It's raining cats and dogs and we're going places. Potts, we'll need you, too, because this might turn out to be the glad night of your life."

Our Apologies to Rapkins

Some weeks ago a letter was received at the office of Linn's Weekly from G. W. Saunders, Ltd., of London, which firm uses space in our advertising columns regularly in which they offer their stamp bargains. The letter instructed us to add a line to their regular advertising in all future printings, the line to read "We are too busy to reply to postcards".

The necessary instructions were given to the printers in the composing room and by some trick of fate the printer confused the name of Saunders and Rapkin. Both being from London and both being large users of space with us. As a result the line was added to the Rapkin advertising rather than to the Saunders advertising and now we have a letter from Messrs Rapkin in which they call our attention to the error and we want to quote one paragraph from this letter, which we hope will rectify the error and assure our readers that Messrs. Rapkin will be glad to receive Postcards.

Quote—"We consider this is damaging to our reputation for courtesy; may we request therefore, that a mention be made in your editorial to correct any wrong impression your readers may have obtained."

"Everything for The Stamp Dealer"

Danish West Indies Forgeries

A forged set of Scott's Nos. 105-108 have appeared. Both the genuine and the forgeries are lithographed, but the latter are much poorer work. On all values of the genuine the outlines of the large white numerals are comparatively sharp, while on the fakes, under the magnifying glass, the numerals on all values show little lumps, dents and kinks. There are also other differences that may be detected.

Jan Kubelik, Philatelist

Stamp collectors who like to tell about notable people who are stamp collectors, when speaking of their hobby may not be aware of the fact that the Violin Virtuoso Jan Kubelik is numbered among the devotees of Philately. Jan Kubelik is especially interested in 19th century used and is the owner of quite a handsome collection of the classic pieces of this period.

His son Rafael Kubelik who acts as Conductor Pianist for his father's concerts is also a collector. It is therefore not queer to learn at the same time that Mr. Ralph L. Hollinshead who is manager for the Kubelik's and whose home is in Highland Park, Ill., is also a stamp collector.

Mr. Hollinshead visited the offices of Linn's Weekly on February 27, the day before the local concert of this noted Virtuoso.

The Airmail Society

A society under the above title has been formed recently in England and members are being enrolled from all parts of the world. A prospectus can be obtained from the secretary. Membership fee is 5 sh. per year and the entrance or initiation fee is 5 sh. To those who apply before March 31st, the initiation fee is waived.

The society is supported by the leading Air Mail collectors of Europe and should prove of interest and value to all enthusiasts. Complete particulars can be had by addressing the Secretary, Roy D. E. Harker, "Stonea", Bullsmore Lane, Waltham Cross, Herts, England.

BYRD AND NEWBURGH

LINE AND GUTTER BLOCKS

The Byrd and Newburgh stamps will also be reissued on March 15th, but in perforate form. Evidently the only way to distinguish these from the original issue will be to collect a pair or block in which the gutter runs down the middle.

In the Newburgh stamp we will supply a block of thirty-two stamps, from which one gutter block of four can be secured, at a net price of $1.25. In the Byrd stamp, we offer a block of twelve stamps, from which a line block of four can be removed, for only .50. The Cross Center Line block of the Byrd stamp will be supplied at $1.50, if enough are available. This block is from the center of the sheet and consists of 16 stamps. It will be a show-piece and a rarity. Ordinary pairs or blocks of the other varieties will be supplied promptly at ten per cent over face plus postage.

$1,781,500.00 Mr. Farley's Folly is CASH MONEY going to be one big blow to the stamp collectors of America and of the world. Just because Jim Farley had some friends the American Stamp Collector is going to be milked in the first milking, for the sum of one million, seven hundred and eighty-one thousand and five hundred dollars.

Leastwise that is the total of the face value of the first printing of Mr. Farley's Foolish Sheets of stamps that is to be made and put on sale as "sucker bait" on March 15th at Washington, D. C.

For this huge sum of money which will be received for a few hundred pounds of paper and a quantity of printers ink, the Postoffice Department has finally consented to handle first day covers for the "poor fish" who are still biting.

That will help take some of the sting out of the process of obtaining these souvenirs of questionable merit and questionable value altho doubtless there will be a huge quantity of them sold and doubtless some who invest in these with a view to the future will find the investment a profitable one for the sole reason that the levy is so high that it will not be possible for a lot of collectors to stand the strain and as a result these collectors will lay off and in time to come the values will go up as we all know that short issues do turn out to be the valuable stamps and it is easy to figure in this instance that the first printings will in no instance produce over 2,000,000 stamps. These being imperforates, will mean at the most 1,000,000 collector pieces if all were served in pairs. There will however, be many of them served in blocks and a pair or a block of which there are less than 1,000,000 pieces available should in the course of time turn out a very desirable piece.

It is necessary to go away back to the 15c Columbian stamp of 1893 to find a stamp of which about this quantity were printed. The 15c Columbian was an issue of a little more than a million and a half and the stamp today is worth around $2.00 for choice mint copies.

It is readily understood that in this instance every one of the Farley stamps is of a value under this 15c stamp excepting the lone 16c Air Mail. That means a bigger market than for a 15c stamp and with the much larger number of collectors now interested a still bigger market. On the other hand a vast quantity or by far the greater number of the 15c Columbians were used and destroyed, whereas due to the very nature of these imperfs, a very small quantity of the total will be used and lost to Philately.

On the whole however, investment in these issues should turn out much better in the course of ten years than one could hope for from many other kinds of investment.

It has never been our purpose to recommend investment in stamps to anyone, we prefer to cater to the collector who collects for pleasure and pleasure alone without thought as to investment.

It is a fact however that a great many collectors do invest in sheets of stamps in the hope of making a profit therefrom and to this class of collectors a word of advice may not be amiss.

Of all the collectors who do buy sheets with the idea of laying them

GOING SHOPPING IN EUROPE AGAIN

I am planning to attend the 25th Intl. Stamp Dealers Bourse in London May 20-22nd and also the Stamp Exhibition in Brussels. Then to Holland, Germany, Saar, Danzig, Czechoslovakia, Austria, France, etc.

The main purpose of this trip—as in 1933—is to buy mixtures, etc., and find new sources of supply in order to secure the very best material available for my ever growing list of thousands of satisfied mixture customers, but I will be open to execute commissions, buying or selling, for dealers or collectors, while over there. Correspondence invited.

away for a profit, it is believed by ourselves that the majority of such collectors realize but little on the investment. This is due to the fact that there are so many who buy in this manner and that the majority of these collectors are financially unable or have not the patience to hold the stamps long enough and as a result for years after any certain issue the sheets are trickling into the market from collectors who get pinched and need the cash or from collectors who get tired waiting for the fancied profit. The quantity thus dumped is sufficient to keep the market supplied and as a result the dealer can usually pick up all he needs at face or at a slight premium. In some cases where a collector has fifty to a hundred dollars worth of such material and wants quick money, we have known of them selling under face to get quick cash.

Therefore the profit from investments in stamps of this nature can only be depended upon by those collectors who are financially able to buy the stamps, lay them away for approximately ten years in most cases and then take their profit.

The Norse-American stamps are the one outstanding exception to this rule, in the past ten years.

However, if the quantity first printed is all that will be printed of these Farley Stamps, any of them should in time become a very desirable investment for the man who cares to tie up the money for five or ten years time.

It is our belief however that the quantity first printed as shown in the table in the Washington News in this number, will have to be enlarged to meet the demand. This may not be true of certain of the stamps such as the Newburgh, the Byrds and the souvenir small sheets for none of these are of any value or interest to the collector except to get gutter pairs or blocks. All the remainder of the stamps in any of these sheets are worthless except as plain stamps such as we already have in the sheets that have been issued. In the small souvenir sheets of nine however, the entire sheets are saleable as gutter pieces except the corners of the big sheets and the central stamps in each pane at top and bottom of the sheet.

Some collectors will of course want all the position blocks from these sheets and for the specialist it will mean a new album to house this mess.

It is our belief that the sale of these Farley Stamps will total near three million dollars within the year. Such a sum is not to be sneezed at and Mr. Farley will doubtless be congratulated by some folks for his foresight in being so generous to a few friends.

If the howl from collectors keeps up and Mr. Farley is prevailed upon to issue the other stamps that have leaked from the Bureau in this manner then collectors can prepare to take another licking at a later date for it is said on good authority that numerous other imperf pieces have been handed out as favors, altho not in sheets, yet in blocks of four.

The current 20c Golden Gate is reported as being shown in Chicago and a scanning of dealer advertising will lead one to wonder where numerous other offered pieces have come from.

Stamp Meet at Marion

On Wednesday evening, March 20, the Marion Hobby Club will hold a stamp auction and special meeting in their club rooms in the Y. M. C. A. Building.

Marion is located in an area that has been without anything like a large stamp meeting for some time and should draw collectors from Bucyrus, Galion and other nearby towns.

A number of the members of the Columbus Philatelic Club are planning to be there and stamp collectors from everywhere are invited to attend this meet.

Them Was the Good Old Days

The following extract is from a letter written on March 23, 1845, by a father to his son who had evidently recently gone away from home to the Wesleyan Academy at So. Wilbraham, Mass.

"Be particular to exercise; get some job of sawing wood or running of errands, or husking corn, or all of these. Students don't require as much food as laborers, but take sufficient beef and pork to make the potatoes digest well, and if you should get a little dyspepsia eat graham bread.

"Wash up thoroughly once or twice in the course of the term, so as to come home clean and healthy. You want a good sized sponge for the purpose, and don't be afraid to use it if the water is a little cold."

Wonder how long that term of school lasted, and if the lad got home sweet and clean in June, after a couple of good "wash ups" during the term?

No Pony Express Stamp

Don Houseworth of St. Joseph, Missouri, says, "St. Joseph folks did about everything short of moving heaven and hell to get the Pony Express stamp. The campaign by the local stamp club, Chamber of Commerce, Rotary, Kiwanis, Co-Operative and other clubs was begun nearly a year ago but the P. O. was firm and the 'right influence' was not discovered."

As the next best bet, Don has conceived a very interesting and attractive cover, with a historic cachet which will serve as an excellent memorial of the 75th anniversary of the Start of the Pony Express, a postal service which has an interest in the heart of every stamp collector.

More Merchants

Having received more than 2,500 covers to mail on his first merchant marine series, Myron F. McCamley, 5526 N. Delaware ave., Portland, Ore., announces his second series, beginning Mar. 19 and closing May 26, for the following ships: Portland, Delftdyk, Hindanger, Pacific Trader, Northwest City, Elbe, San Francisco, Bokuyo Maru, India, Leikanger, Pt. Montara and Rakuyo Maru, in the order named. Covers must be stamped first class postage and forwarding postage of 1 cent a cover must accompany same. Myron is doing his share toward promoting the merchant marines and if you have none of these, here is your chance.

Macon Anniversary

Sorry the news reached me too late, but those who have covers with the cachet directors in San Pedro and Los Angeles will receive a beautiful cachet cancelled Mar. 11, for the second Anniversary of the ill-fated Macon and also memorializing the ship. The cachet is by the San Pedro Chamber of Commerce, and W. G. Crosby, Box 602, San Pedro, Calif., is cachet director. Those who had no covers out

FIRST DAY COVER SERVICE FROM ALL COLONIES

(We guarantee these covers to be worth AT LEAST $1 each in one year).

Arrangements have been made for a limited number of first day covers bearing complete sets of 4 Jubilee stamps from each of the forty-four colonies. A beautiful cachet will be applied to covers.

Due to the shortage of time, you are urged to place your order for covers immediately. No orders can be accepted after April 1.

HOW TO ORDER: Send us a list of the covers desired together with remittance by P. O. Money Order PLUS 15c SERVICE CHARGE FOR EACH COVER. Figure: 25c=1 shilling; 2=1 pence. The average cost for stamps on each cover is 40c, service charge 15c, total 55c.

Send 3c stamp for complete price list of this service.

PIONEER STAMP COMPANY

RIDGEWOOD STATION.

BROOKLYN, NEW YORK

for the event and want covers, write to Mr. Crosby.

New Division

The Astoria, New Orleans, Minneapolis and Tuscaloosa, new cruisers, will join the Pacific fleet this month and when that event transpires, a new cruiser division will be formed, with the San Francisco as flagship. The Division will be No. 7. This will be the first touch of Pacific waters for the Tuscaloosa, Minneapolis and New Orleans. A new rear admiral will be assigned to this division. Get covers to these ships, for undoubtedly there will be cancels and probably a cachet or two for this event. Thanks to President Powell for the information.

Three Cachets

Cachets will be applied on covers for the launching ceremonies of the USS Shaw and Cassin and the commissioning of the USS Aylwin at Philadelphia soon. Rush covers as quickly as you see this, to T. M. Holcombe, IV, 5137 Cedar St., Philadelphia, Pa., who will handle the covers on behalf of Decatur Chapter No. 4. The cachet is by Ralph A. Casner. Commemoratives on wrappers appreciated.

In Explanation

Lloyd Nace, cachet director for Denby USCS Chapter, Detroit, writes that one box of covers sent out for New Year's cancel by him to the USS Overton never arrived, and both he and the Overton mail clerk, A. C. Pearce, who has demonstrated many times his friendliness toward collectors, are sorry for these covers having been lost, but no trace of them can be found. William Schlechter of Allentown, writes that most covers sent him for the USS Lark cancel Feb. 22, arrived too late and he sent the late comers to the USS Herbert, where they were nicely handled. Those which arrived too late even for that he put in on his St. Patrick's day cachet. Those arriving late for St. Pat will be mailed on future cachets. Louis G. Nix, 1312 Maryland Ave., N. E., Washington, D. C., whose nice covers every collector is familiar with, says the mail clerk has been changed on the USS Cormorant at Washington, and that ship isn't so accommodating as it used to be, and being the only vessel at the capital, he is unable to mail from there at present. But keep covers, with forwarding postage, with him, for he is always getting out nice ones. His next is an Easter cachet from the USS Cuttlefish.

Precancel Meet

The Central New England Precancel Club will hold its monthly meeting Sunday, March 10th, at the Aurora Hotel, Worcester, Mass. All precancel collectors welcome.

Hoover Bros. Move

The publishers of the catalog and dealers de lux in precancels have taken up larger quarters in the penthouse at 444 Fourth Ave., New York, N. Y.

Classics

A term from the jargon of the precancel collector. I have used the word often and have found out that it is not entirely clear to some of my readers. We call the scarcer items of the older precancel issues, CLASSICS, referring mainly to the 1898 and older issues and the 1902 issue. The items in subsequent issues up to and including the 1908 issue may be included too.

Imperforates

Once again may I warn all precancel collectors about the current imperf issues. None of them will ever gain admittance to the catalog nor be recognized by the precancel fraternity. I have the publishers word for it that such truck will never be listed. If you pay money for such precancels consider yourself as having purchased a novelty like the tin whistle with the little red feather in it that you bought last year at the fair.

Bristol, Va.

W. M. Harmon of Covington, Va., tells me that he has a 3c ord. comp. perf. from Bristol, Va., in the type without lines or bars. This makes the third item in this type, who has others? The other two values were the 10c and 25c.

Al Jones Figures Up.

In a recent issue of the Precancel Optimist Jones portrays a table of figures showing that while the perf. 10x10 issue was in use but a comparatively short time, the values from the 2c to 10c in the perf. 11 issue were in use but little longer and as in the case of the 2c not quite half so long. The perf. 11 stamps were issued first, then the perf. 10x10. Jones implies that when the perf. 10 of a certain value appeared, it was then that the perf. 11 ceased to be made, at any rate that is the way he figures his table. It has always been my opinion that in as much as these perf. 10x10's were still somewhat of an experiment the two methods of production were used concurrently until the production of the rotary presses proved sufficient to take care of the demand, if this be true then the time and number of stamps made in the perf. 11 issue would be greater than supposed by Jones. It was Als purpose in the first place to show the relative scarcity of the low value perf. 11 precancels as to those of the 10x10 issue by portraying a table showing the approximate number of months each value was in use, and he should be commended for his time and effort.

BROADWAY CHATTER

By BI STANDER

The Lewis Stamp Company of 190 Myrtle Avenue, Brooklyn, is the name of a new company dealing in stamps.

Gordon R. Harmer, director of Harmer, Rooke & Company, Ltd., of London, England, is in New York and is making arrangements for taking to England the stamp of British Guiana, one cent sailing ship issue of 1856 that is valued at $50,000 and belongs to Mrs. P. Costa Scala of Utica, N. Y. widow of the late Arthur Hind. Mr. Harmer believes that this stamp should bring $50,000 in the May or October auctions in London this year.

The Fordham Stamp Company of 1480 Broadway, have moved their offices, on account of increase of business, to rooms 613 and 614 in the same building. Their stock has been increased to such an extent that the space they had was insufficient.

Another robbery of a stamp dealer in the Metropolitan district. The Metro Stamp Company was broken into and stamps were stolen. This concern is located at 1486 Broadway, between 42nd and 43rd Streets, New York.

"Magic of Stamps" a house organ of Vahan Moziar, Inc., of 10 East Thirty Ninth Street, number two, has appeared and we like its get-up. Magic of Stamps by Paul Keating, an article on Monaco and another on "Farley's Dilemma" are in this issue.

Do you know that paper perforations, states the Scientific American, of New York, dropping from the holes in United States stamps, totaled thirty-five tons during the last fiscal year, during which 12 billion U. S. stamps were made. I. H. Phillips in the New York Sun states "And it looks as though the amount may be somewhat less this year."

They are having fun with "Huey Long" at Vassar College, Poughkeepsie, New York. He is being impersonated by Harold K. Ellis of Phoenixville, Pa. Among the merry quips gotten off is one "As for Jim Farley: He can't scare me. I ain't no stamp collector."

Nearly everybody collects, so they don't know it. Manager Bill Terry of the New York Giants is no stamp collector but he is collecting baseball playing brothers. He has now on his roster Al Cucinello and Tony, and also Skeets Dickey brother of Bill Dickey.

The Farley Sheets Dissected

On March 15, the avalanche of Farley Imperforates and other Farley Favor Stamps will be loosed on collectors. Few will be able to purchase the complete set of sheets which have a face value of over $190.00. However, most collectors will want certain singles, pairs or blocks from each of these sheets and I have attempted to dissect these sheets in a manner that will permit the collector to purchase just such pieces as he will want and I have attempted to put the prices as low as possible, in every instance pricing those pieces that are plentiful in the sheet at very low prices. These stamps will probably never be cheaper than they are offered now and it is advisable to get what you want at the present low prices. Due to the fact that but one set of position blocks can be had from any sheet, these blocks will be of extreme rarity and much sought for.

†In the Newburgh stamps the set of position blocks of four consist of the center block with vertical and horizontal gutter between the stamps and of the top and bottom center blocks with vertical gutter between also right and left center blocks with horizontal gutter between. But one set of such blocks is available from a sheet of 400 stamps. Likewise, the pairs or blocks instead of having a line between come with a white paper gutter between.

The Souvenir Sheets Dissected

The 1c National Parks sheet of six as issued at Omaha, the 3c National Parks sheets of six as issued at Atlantic City, the 3c Byrd sheet of six as issued at The National Philatelic Exhibition and the 1c and 3c Century of Progress sheets of 25 can be collected in numerous different ways so that the collector will have visible evidence that the pieces are from this special Farley Printing. I have attempted to dissect these sheets and offer them in every possible way for the collector who is looking for odd pieces.
